IRADI D'LUNA

BIOGRAPHY:

Brazilian bass player born in the city of João Pessoa (PB) Iradi D'luna started early in music. At the age of 4 he had contact with the first instruments, prompting interest in percussive instruments, traces of his African family heritage.

Over time he started to dedicate himself more to music and started his studies at the Conservatory of Music, from then on he emerged in the world of music and began to collect courses and activities.

On his journey, during the years 2006-2015, he took the Bachelor's and Master's degrees in classic music at the Federal University of Paraíba, in this same institution he was an intern as an orchestra musician and was an assistant professor, but also a double bass player in the João Pessoa Municipal Orchestra and professor of the El Sistema music education project.

Still in Brazil, he had the pleasure of participating in recordings with the filmmaker and composer André Moraes on the album Dilacerado, when he could work with renowned percussionist Nana Vasconcelos.

In the year 2016 he moved to Linz in the desire to live the experience of studying with Peter Herbert. And it was through this poetic contact, it was discovered not only a bass player, but a composer and singer.

Establishing his feet in the multicultural world and finding greater possibilities to experience music.

Since 2016 he has actively participated in the music scene in Austria as a bass player, composer, arranger and singer in various projects and recordings.
